SCOPE: All employees and, as defined below, contractors or agents of Company affiliates located in the Commonwealth of Kentucky or providing services to Medicare or Medicaid providers located in the Commonwealth of Kentucky, including but not limited to, hospitals, ambulatory surgery centers, outpatient imaging centers, home health agencies, physician practices, service centers and all Corporate Departments, Groups, Divisions and Markets.

PURPOSE: To comply with certain requirements set forth in the Deficit Reduction Act of 2005 with regard to federal and state false claims laws.

POLICY: Company affiliates who are Medicare or Medicaid providers in Kentucky or provide services to Kentucky Medicare or Medicaid providers must ensure that all employees, including management, and any contractors or agents are educated regarding the federal and state false claims statutes and the role of such laws in preventing and detecting fraud, waste and abuse in federal health care programs.

FALSE CLAIMS LAWS

One of the primary purposes of false claims laws is to combat fraud and abuse in government health care programs. False claims laws do this by making it possible for the government to bring civil actions to recover damages and penalties when healthcare providers submit false claims. These laws often permit qui tam suits as well, which are lawsuits brought by lay people, typically employees or former employees of healthcare facilities that submit false claims. There is a federal False Claims Act. Although the Commonwealth of Kentucky has not adopted any false claims acts or statutes that contain qui tam provisions, it has adopted a generally applicable medical assistance anti-fraud statute that is intended to prevent the submission of false and fraudulent claims to the Kentucky Medicaid program, and contains a whistleblower protection provision.

FEDERAL FALSE CLAIMS LAWS

Under the federal False Claims Act, any person or entity that knowingly submits a false or fraudulent claim for payment of United States Government funds, or knowingly retains an overpayment of such funds more than 60 days, is liable for significant penalties and fines. The fines include a penalty of up to three times the Government’s damages, civil penalties ranging from $10,957 to $21,916 per false claim, as adjusted by the Federal Civil Penalties Inflation Adjustment Act of 1990, plus the costs of the civil action against the entity that submitted the false claims. Generally, the federal False Claims Act applies to any federally funded program. The federal False Claims Act applies, for example, to claims submitted by healthcare providers to Medicare or Medicaid.

One of the unique aspects of the federal False Claims Act is the “qui tam” provision, commonly referred to as the “whistleblower” provision. This provision allows a private person with knowledge of a false claim to bring a civil action on behalf of the United States Government to recover the funds paid by the Government as a result of the false claim. If the suit is ultimately successful, the whistleblower who initially brought the suit may be awarded a percentage of the funds recovered. In addition, the United States Government may elect to join the qui tam suit. In this case, if the suit is successful, the percentage of the funds awarded to the whistleblower is lower because the Government will take over the expenses of the suit. However, regardless of whether the Government participates in the lawsuit, the court may reduce the whistleblower's share of the proceeds if the court finds that the whistleblower planned and initiated the false claims violation. Further, if the whistleblower is convicted of criminal conduct related to his role in the false claim, the whistleblower will be dismissed from the civil action without receiving any portion of the proceeds.

The federal False Claims Act also contains a provision that protects a whistleblower from retaliation by his or her employer. This applies to any employee who is discharged, demoted, suspended, threatened, harassed, or discriminated against in his or her employment as a result of the employee's lawful acts in furtherance of a false claims action. The whistleblower may bring an action in the appropriate federal district court and is entitled to reinstatement with the same seniority status, two times the amount of back pay, interest on the back pay, and compensation for any special damages as a result of the discrimination, such as litigation costs and reasonable attorney's fees.

A similar federal law is the Program Fraud Civil Remedies Act of 1986 (the "PFCRA"). It provides administrative remedies for knowingly submitting false claims and statements. A false claim or statement includes submitting a claim or making a written statement that is for services that were not provided, or that asserts a material fact that is false, or that omits a material fact. A violation of the PFCRA results in a maximum civil penalty of $5,000 per claim plus an assessment of up to twice the amount of each false or fraudulent claim.

KENTUCKY MEDICAID ANTI-FRAUD STATUTE

The Commonwealth of Kentucky has not adopted any false claims acts or statutes that contain qui tam provisions. It has, however, adopted generally applicable medical assistance anti-fraud statute ("KMAFS") that makes it unlawful for a person to submit false and fraudulent claims to the Kentucky Medicaid program. The statute also makes it unlawful for any person to present false information regarding an institution or facility so that it may be licensed or recertified as a Medicaid provider. Violations of the statute are both civil and criminal offenses and are punishable by imprisonment and significant monetary penalties. See Ky. Rev. Stat. § 205.8451, .8463, .8467.

Whistleblower Protection

The KMAFS contains an employee protection provision that forbids employers from retaliating or discriminating in any manner against any person who makes a good faith report of fraud, testifies, or is about to testify in any proceeding with regard to any report or investigation. See Ky. Rev. Stat. § 205.8465.

The KMAF's whistleblower provision entitles the whistleblower to recover the actual damages sustained and the costs of the lawsuit, including a reasonable attorney's fee, and permits a civil cause of action to enjoin future violations. See Ky. Rev. Stat. § 205.8465.

REPORTING CONCERNS REGARDING FRAUD, ABUSE AND FALSE CLAIMS

The Company takes issues regarding false claims and fraud and abuse seriously. The Company encourages all employees, management, and contractors or agents of the Company's affiliated facilities to be aware of the laws regarding fraud and abuse and false claims and to identify and resolve any issues immediately. Issues are resolved fastest and most effectively when given prompt attention at the local level. Therefore, the Company encourages its affiliated facilities' employees, managers, and contractors to report concerns to their immediate supervisor when appropriate. If the supervisor is not deemed to be the appropriate contact or if the supervisor fails to respond quickly and appropriately to the concern, then the individual with the concern should be encouraged to discuss the situation with the facility's human resources manager, the Company's ECO, another member of management, or with the Company's Ethics Hotline (1-800-455-1996).

Employees, including management, and any contractors or agents of Company-affiliated facilities should be aware of related facility policies regarding detection and prevention of health care fraud and abuse. These policies and procedures can be accessed on Atlas, the Company's Intranet site, or the Company website at www.hcahealthcare.com. The following are some of the policies that are relevant to this policy and to the prevention and detection of fraud and abuse: (1) EC.025 - Reporting Compliance Issues and Occurrences to the Corporate Office Policy; (2) REGS.GEN.015 - Correction of Errors Related to Federal and State Healthcare Program FFS Reimbursement Policy; and (3) RB.009 - Reporting of Cost Report Overpayment Policy. Note that employees, contractors, and agents of Company affiliates providing services to other, non-affiliated facilities should also understand that all such facilities are expected to have similar policies applying to contractors (including the Company) requiring (1) compliance with federal and state laws, including false claims laws; (2) reporting of potential overpayments and compliance concerns; and (3) the whistleblower protections described above.
