SCOPE: All employees and, as defined below, contractors or agents of Company affiliates located in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts or providing services to Medicare or Medicaid providers located in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, including, but not limited to, hospitals, ambulatory surgery centers, outpatient imaging centers, home health agencies, physician practices, service centers and all Corporate Departments, Groups, Divisions and Markets.

PURPOSE: To comply with certain requirements set forth in the Deficit Reduction Act of 2005 with regard to federal and state false claims laws.

POLICY: Company affiliates who are Medicare or Medicaid providers in Massachusetts or provide services to Massachusetts Medicare or Medicaid providers must ensure that all employees, including management, and any contractors or agents, are educated regarding the federal and state false claims statutes and the role of such laws in preventing and detecting fraud, waste, and abuse in federal health care programs.

FALSE CLAIMS LAWS

One of the primary purposes of false claims laws is to combat fraud and abuse in government health care programs. False claims laws do this by making it possible for the government to bring civil actions to recover damages and penalties when healthcare providers submit false claims. These laws often permit qui tam suits as well, which are lawsuits brought by lay people, typically employees or former employees of healthcare facilities that submit false claims. There is a federal False Claims Act. Massachusetts has adopted a similar false claims act that contains qui tam and whistleblower protection provisions that are similar to those found in the federal False Claims Act.

FEDERAL FALSE CLAIMS LAWS

Under the federal False Claims Act, any person or entity that knowingly submits a false or fraudulent claim for payment of United States Government funds, or knowingly retains an overpayment of such funds more than 60 days, is liable for significant penalties and fines. The fines include a penalty of up to three times the Government's damages, civil penalties ranging from $10,957 to $21,916 per false claim, as adjusted by the Federal Civil Penalties Inflation Adjustment Act of 1990, plus the costs of the civil action against the entity that submitted the false claims. Generally, the federal False Claims Act applies to any federally funded program. The federal False Claims Act applies, for example, to claims submitted by healthcare providers to Medicare or Medicaid.

One of the unique aspects of the federal False Claims Act is the "qui tam" provision, commonly referred to as the "whistleblower" provision. This provision allows a private person with knowledge of a false claim to bring a civil action on behalf of the United States Government to recover the funds paid by the Government as a result of the false claim. If the suit is ultimately successful, the whistleblower who initially brought the suit may be awarded a percentage of the funds recovered. In addition, the United States Government may elect to join the qui tam suit. In this case, if the suit is successful, the percentage of the funds awarded to the whistleblower is lower because the government will take over the expenses of the suit. However, regardless of whether the Government participates in the lawsuit, the court may reduce the whistleblower's share of the proceeds if the court finds that the whistleblower planned and initiated the false claims violation. Further, if the whistleblower is convicted of criminal conduct related to his role in the false claim, the whistleblower will be dismissed from the civil action without receiving any portion of the proceeds.

The federal False Claims Act also contains a provision that protects a whistleblower from retaliation by his or her employer. This applies to any employee who is discharged, demoted, suspended, threatened, harassed, or discriminated against in his or her employment as a result of the employee's lawful acts in furtherance of a false claims action. The whistleblower may bring an action in the appropriate federal district court and is entitled to reinstatement with the same seniority status, two times the amount of back pay, interest on the back pay, and compensation for any special damages as a result of the discrimination, such as litigation costs and reasonable attorney's fees.

A similar federal law is the Program Fraud Civil Remedies Act of 1986 (the "PFCRA"). It provides administrative remedies for knowingly submitting false claims and statements. A false claim or statement includes submitting a claim or making a written statement that is for services that were not provided, or that asserts a material fact that is false, or that omits a material fact. A violation of the PFCRA results in a maximum civil penalty of $5,000 per claim plus an assessment of up to twice the amount of each false or fraudulent claim.

MASSACHUSETTS CIVIL FALSE CLAIMS LAWS

Violations of Massachusetts false claims laws include, but are not limited to, knowingly presenting, or causing to be presented, a false or fraudulent claim for payment or approval, knowingly making, using, or causing to be made or used a false record or statement material to a false or fraudulent claim, or conspiring to commit an aforementioned violation. See Mass. Gen. Laws. ch. 12, §5B.

A violator will be liable to the Commonwealth for a civil penalty not less than $5,500 and not more than $11,000 per violation, plus three times the amount of damages, including consequential damages that the Commonwealth or a political subdivision thereof sustains because of the violations, as well as attorney's fees and the cost of the investigation. Certain liabilities may be reduced if the violator furnishes the office of the attorney general with all known information within 30 days after the date on which the person first obtained the information, before any legal action had commenced, and the person fully cooperated with any commonwealth investigation. See Mass. Gen. Laws ch. 12, §5B.

The Massachusetts Attorney General shall investigate violations under the false claims statutes and may bring a civil action against a person who has violated the statute. An individual may also bring a private action on behalf the Commonwealth. In the event the qui tam action is successful, the individual bringing the civil action may be awarded a percentage of the funds recovered. See Mass. Gen. Laws ch. 12, §5C and 5F.

Whistleblower Protection

Massachusetts false claims laws contain an employee protection provision that entitles an employee, contractor or agent to any relief necessary to make them whole if the employee, contractor or agent is discharged, demoted, suspended, harassed or in any other manner discriminated against in the terms and conditions of employment because of lawful acts done by the employee, contractor, agent or a person associated with the employee, contractor or agent in furtherance of an action under the false claims statute. See Mass. Gen. Laws ch. 12, §5J.

MASSACHUSETTS CRIMINAL FALSE CLAIMS STATUTE

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts' criminal code includes a provision prohibiting false claims, including, but not limited to, making or presenting to the Commonwealth, any claim upon or against any department, agency, or public instrumentality of the Commonwealth, or any political subdivision thereof, knowing such claim to be false, fictitious, or fraudulent. Violators will be punished by a fine of not more than $10,000 or by imprisonment for not more than five years. See Mass. Gen. Laws ch. 266, § 67B.

REPORTING CONCERNS REGARDING FRAUD, ABUSE AND FALSE CLAIMS

The Company takes issues regarding false claims and fraud and abuse seriously. The Company encourages all employees, management, and contractors or agents of the Company's affiliated facilities to be aware of the laws regarding fraud and abuse and false claims and to identify and resolve any issues immediately. Issues are resolved fastest and most effectively when given prompt attention at the local level. Therefore, the Company encourages its affiliated facilities' employees, managers, and contractors to report concerns to their immediate supervisor when appropriate. If the supervisor is not deemed to be the appropriate contact or if the supervisor fails to respond quickly and appropriately to the concern, then the individual with the concern should be encouraged to discuss the situation with the Company's human resources manager, the Company's ECO, another member of management, or with the Company's Ethics Hotline (1-800-455-1996).

Employees, including management, and any contractors or agents of Company-affiliated facilities should be aware of related facility policies regarding detection and prevention of health care fraud and abuse. These policies and procedures can be accessed on Atlas, the Company's Intranet site, or the
